

Wibke Weber

Stuttgart Media University, Germany

Wibke Weber studied German and Spanish Literature, Theatre, Film and Television Arts, graduated with an MA in 1991 and obtained her PhD in 1996 about structures of radio drama at the University of Frankfurt a. M., Germany

She has worked as a radio journalist for the German public broadcasting stations Hessischer Rundfunk and Bayerischer Rundfunk (ARD), has been project manager and online editor for the German public broadcasting stations Hessischer Rundfunk and Suedwestrundfunk (ARD) and channel manager at Hubert Burda Media, Germany.

Since 2001 Wibke Weber has been full professor for Information Design at Stuttgart Media University, Germany

Her major subjects are professional writing, text design and convergent media. She also lectures at FH Joanneum Graz (Austria); Zurich University of Applied Sciences Winterthur (ZHAW); Zurich University of the Arts (ZHdK)

Research interests are information visualization and information graphics, visual storytelling, convergent media journalism, the current research project deals with interactive information graphics.

Wibke is founder and Head of the Student Radio Stuttgart www.horads.de, member of VALS-ALSA (Swiss Association for Applied Linguistics), GAL (German Association for Applied Linguistics), IIID (International Institute for Information Design), ICA (International Communication Association)

2003 to 2006 she was Chair of Information Design at Stuttgart Media University, Germany.